group saying, "You know that ass Willy, he is the one that is dangerous, he gives away if he talks. You know how he would come around here and talk and we could get anything out of him. You remember before the crime was committed what Hall could not get out of the family when Willy came around we would question him and get all we wanted to know." The conversation was disconnected, due to several interruptions, heavy traffic and noise. After another interruption one of the men said, "Well, I'll tell you something, I must tell the truth even if I am a Hungarian, if Hall had not got in with this drunken degenerate Hamborzkys, I think that the family could have avoided a lot of trouble. You know there is trouble in every family. This was just carried a little too far."

The group split up and I heard nothing more about the Halls. Stayed around until 1:00 A.M. but could learn nothing more but am convinced this cigar store is the gambling headquarters of the lowest type both for Hungarian and Americans of New Brunswick and the vicinity, but is patronized mainly by Hungarians.
